

Coffee Point Data Analysis Report

Number of Products by ABC Category

Sales Contribution by ABC Category

Product Details by ABC Category

product	total price	category	percentage	cumulative percentage
Matcha Latte	356400	A	8.9	8.9
Coconut Iced Coffee	343553	A	8.58	17.48
Cold Brew	317136	A	7.92	25.4
Mocha	296610	A	7.41	32.81
Polish-Style Coffee	296280	B	7.4	40.21
Polish Cheesecake	295755	B	7.39	47.59
Affogato	284396	B	7.1	54.69
Hot Chocolate	280602	B	7.01	61.7
Flat White	275492	B	6.88	68.58
Latte	257114	B	6.42	75.0
Nutty Chocolate Cake	240480	C	6.01	81.01
Cappuccino	240312	C	6.0	87.01
Americano	197690	C	4.94	91.95
Mini Almond Cookie Set	161648	C	4.04	95.98
Espresso	160832	C	4.02	100.0

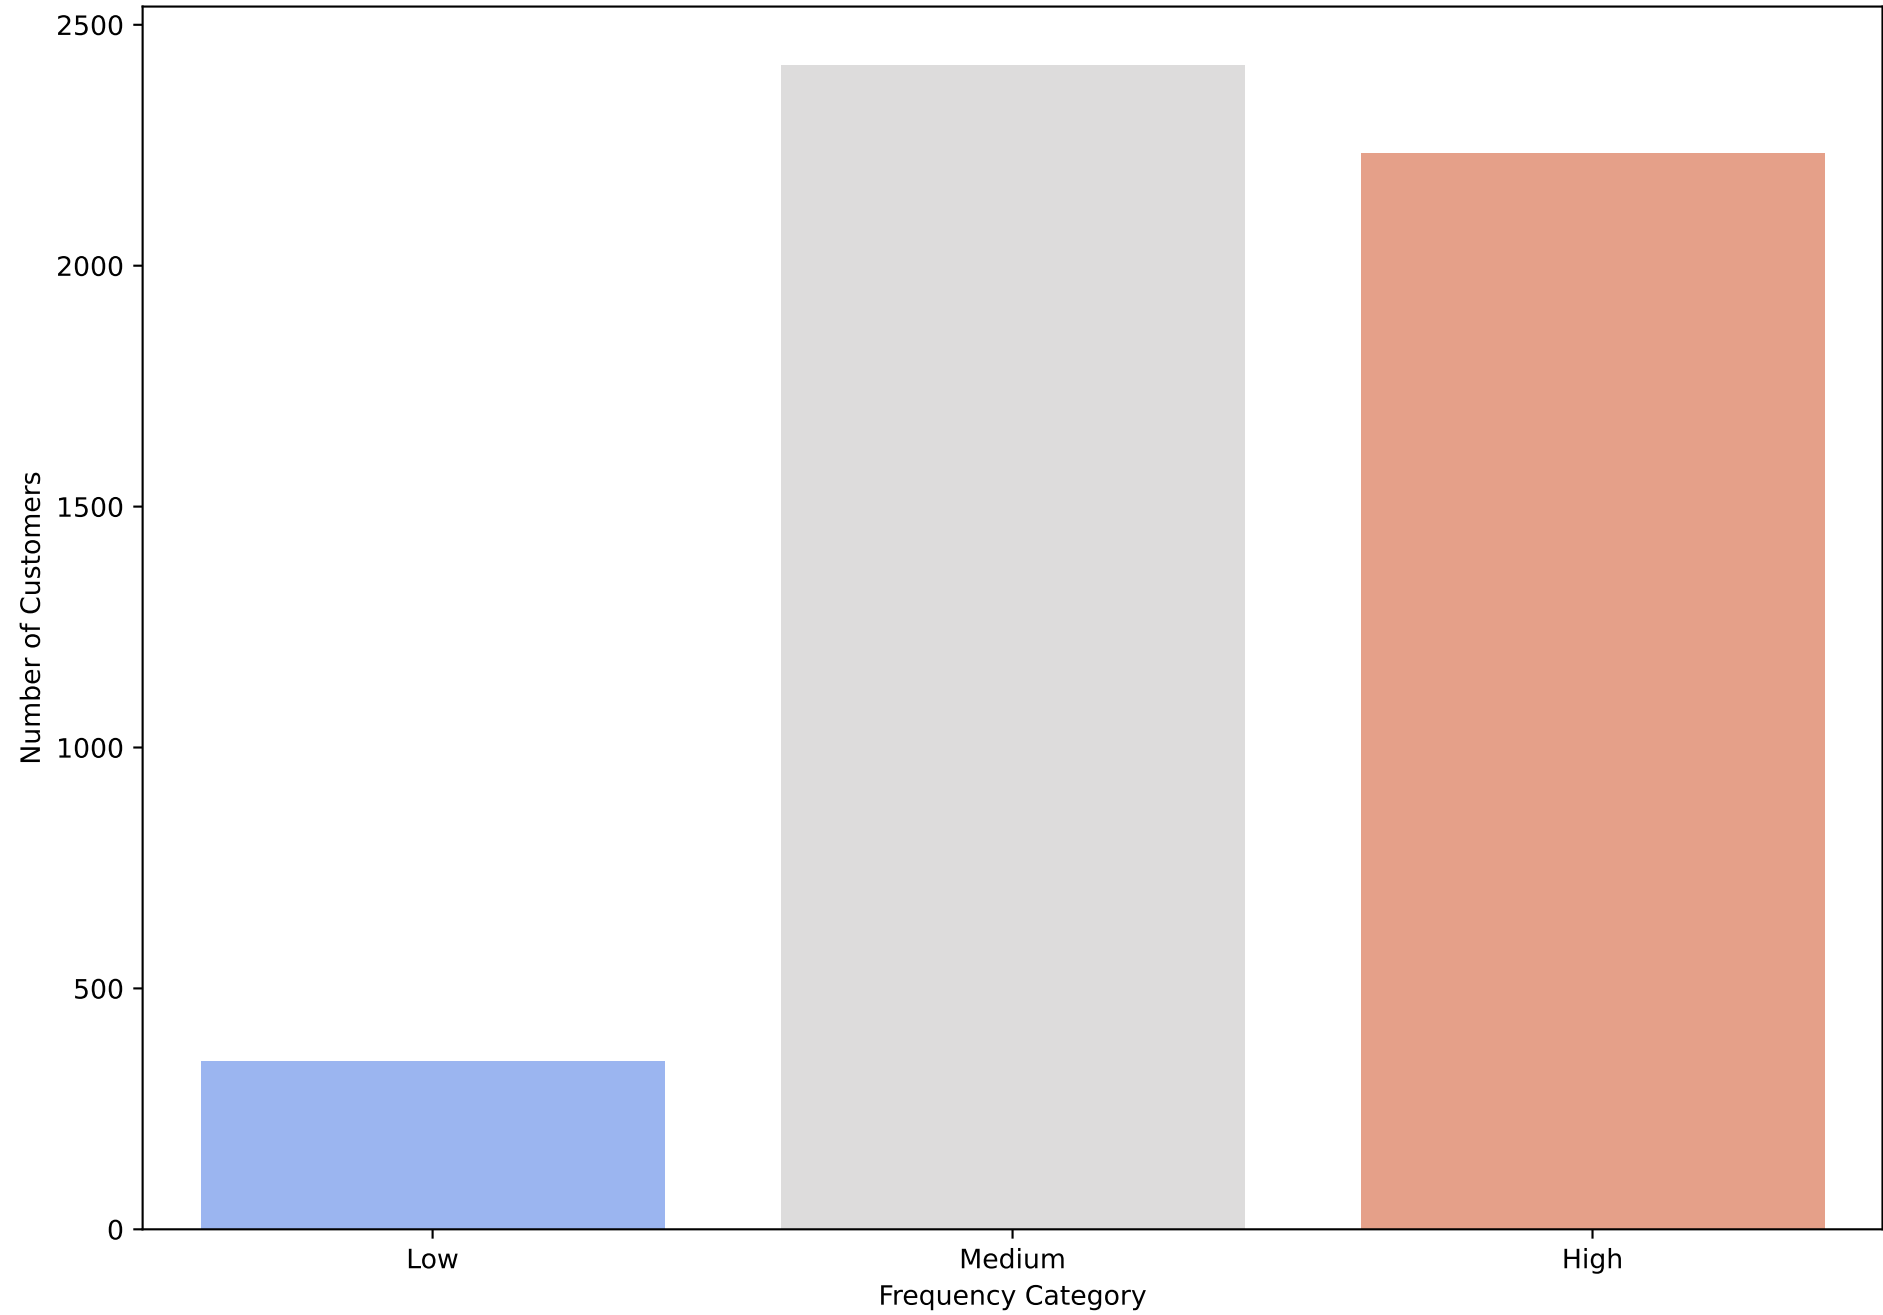

ABC Analysis Summary:

Category A products contribute the most to revenue, accounting for 32.81% of total sales. Focus on maintaining their availability and improving sales efficiency.

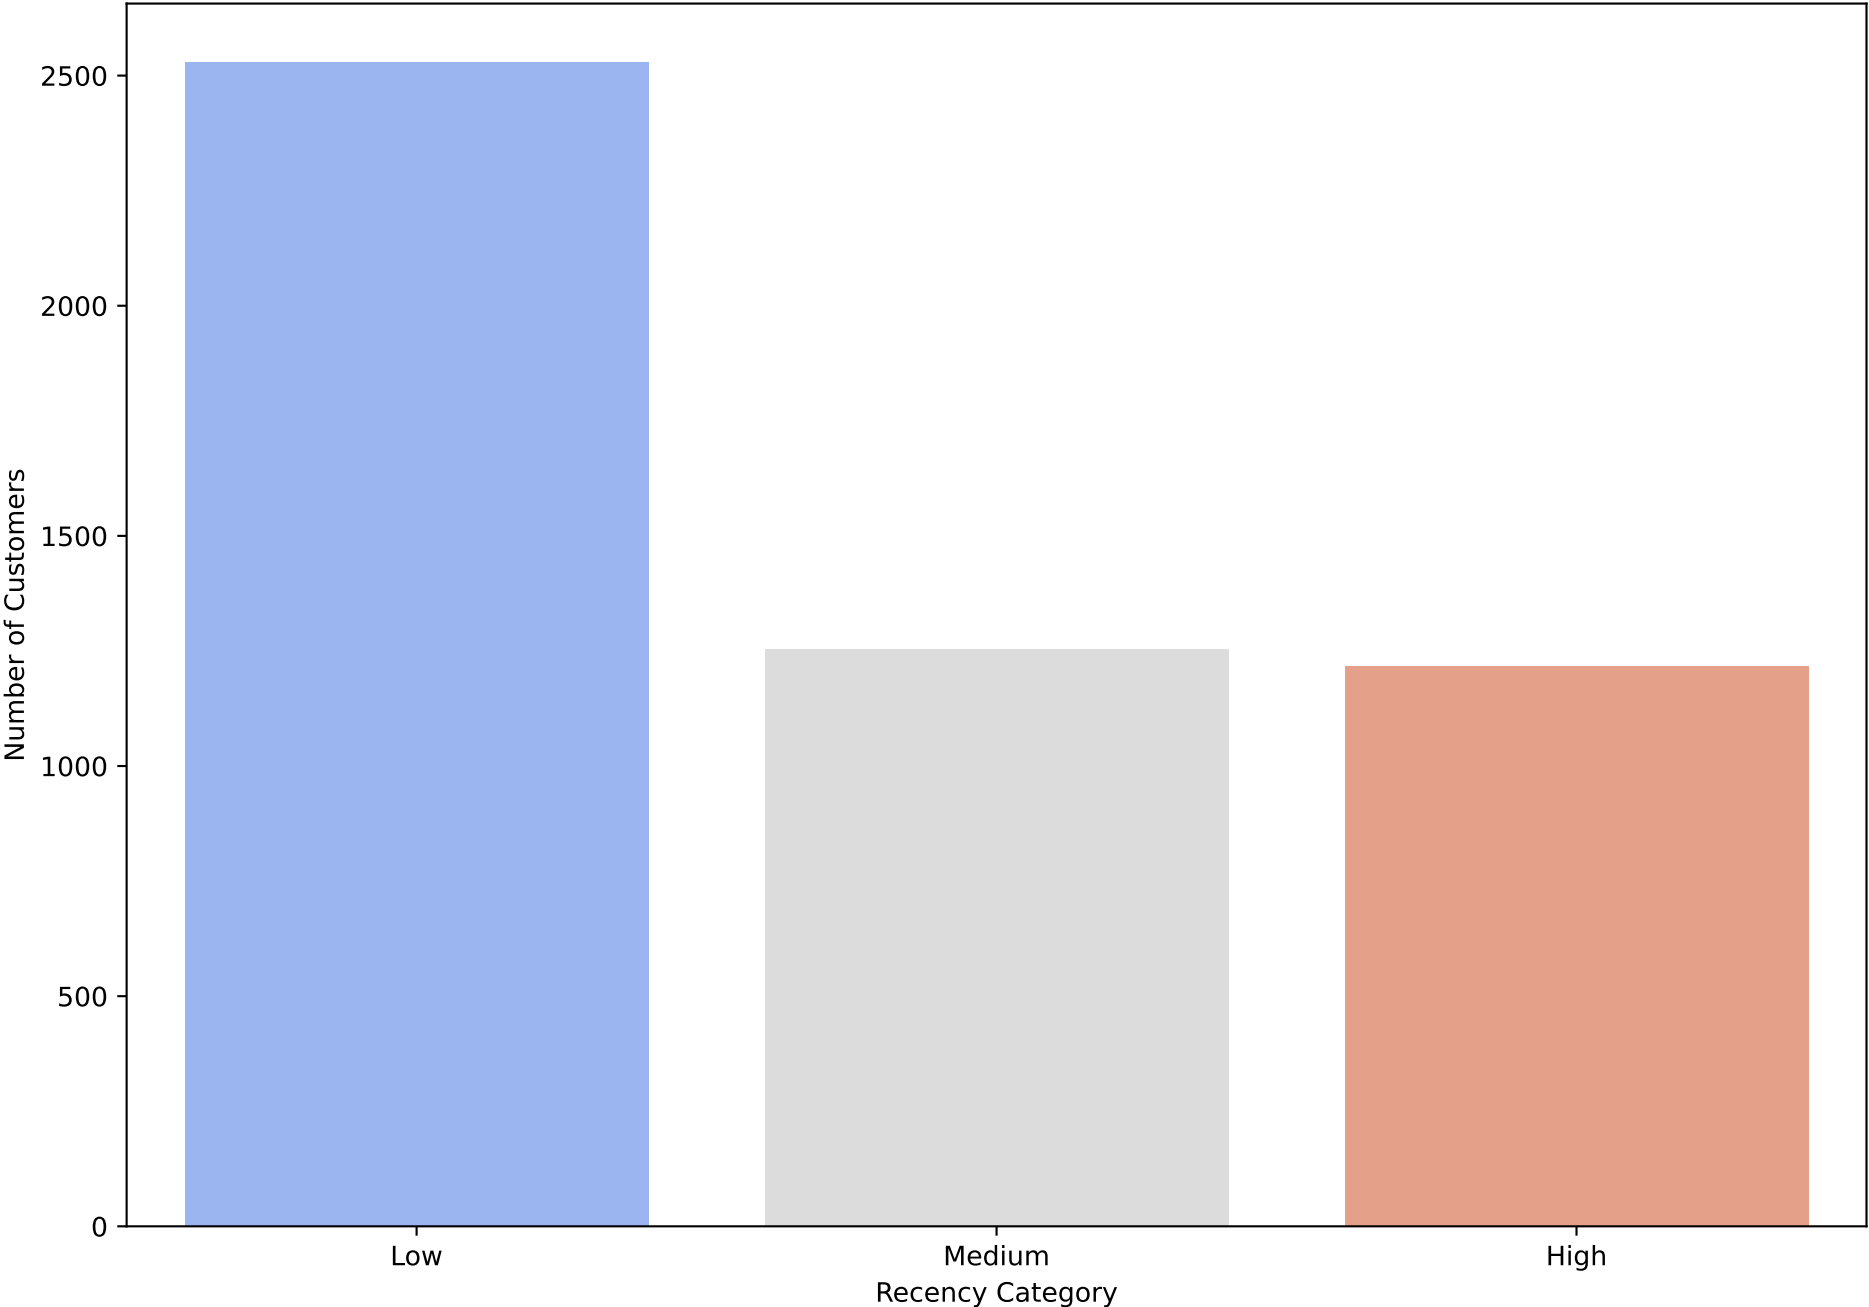

Category B products contribute moderately, accounting for 42.20%. Consider exploring growth opportunities for these products.

Category C products contribute the least but are the most numerous. They only contribute 25.01% of total sales. Review these products for potential removal or repositioning.

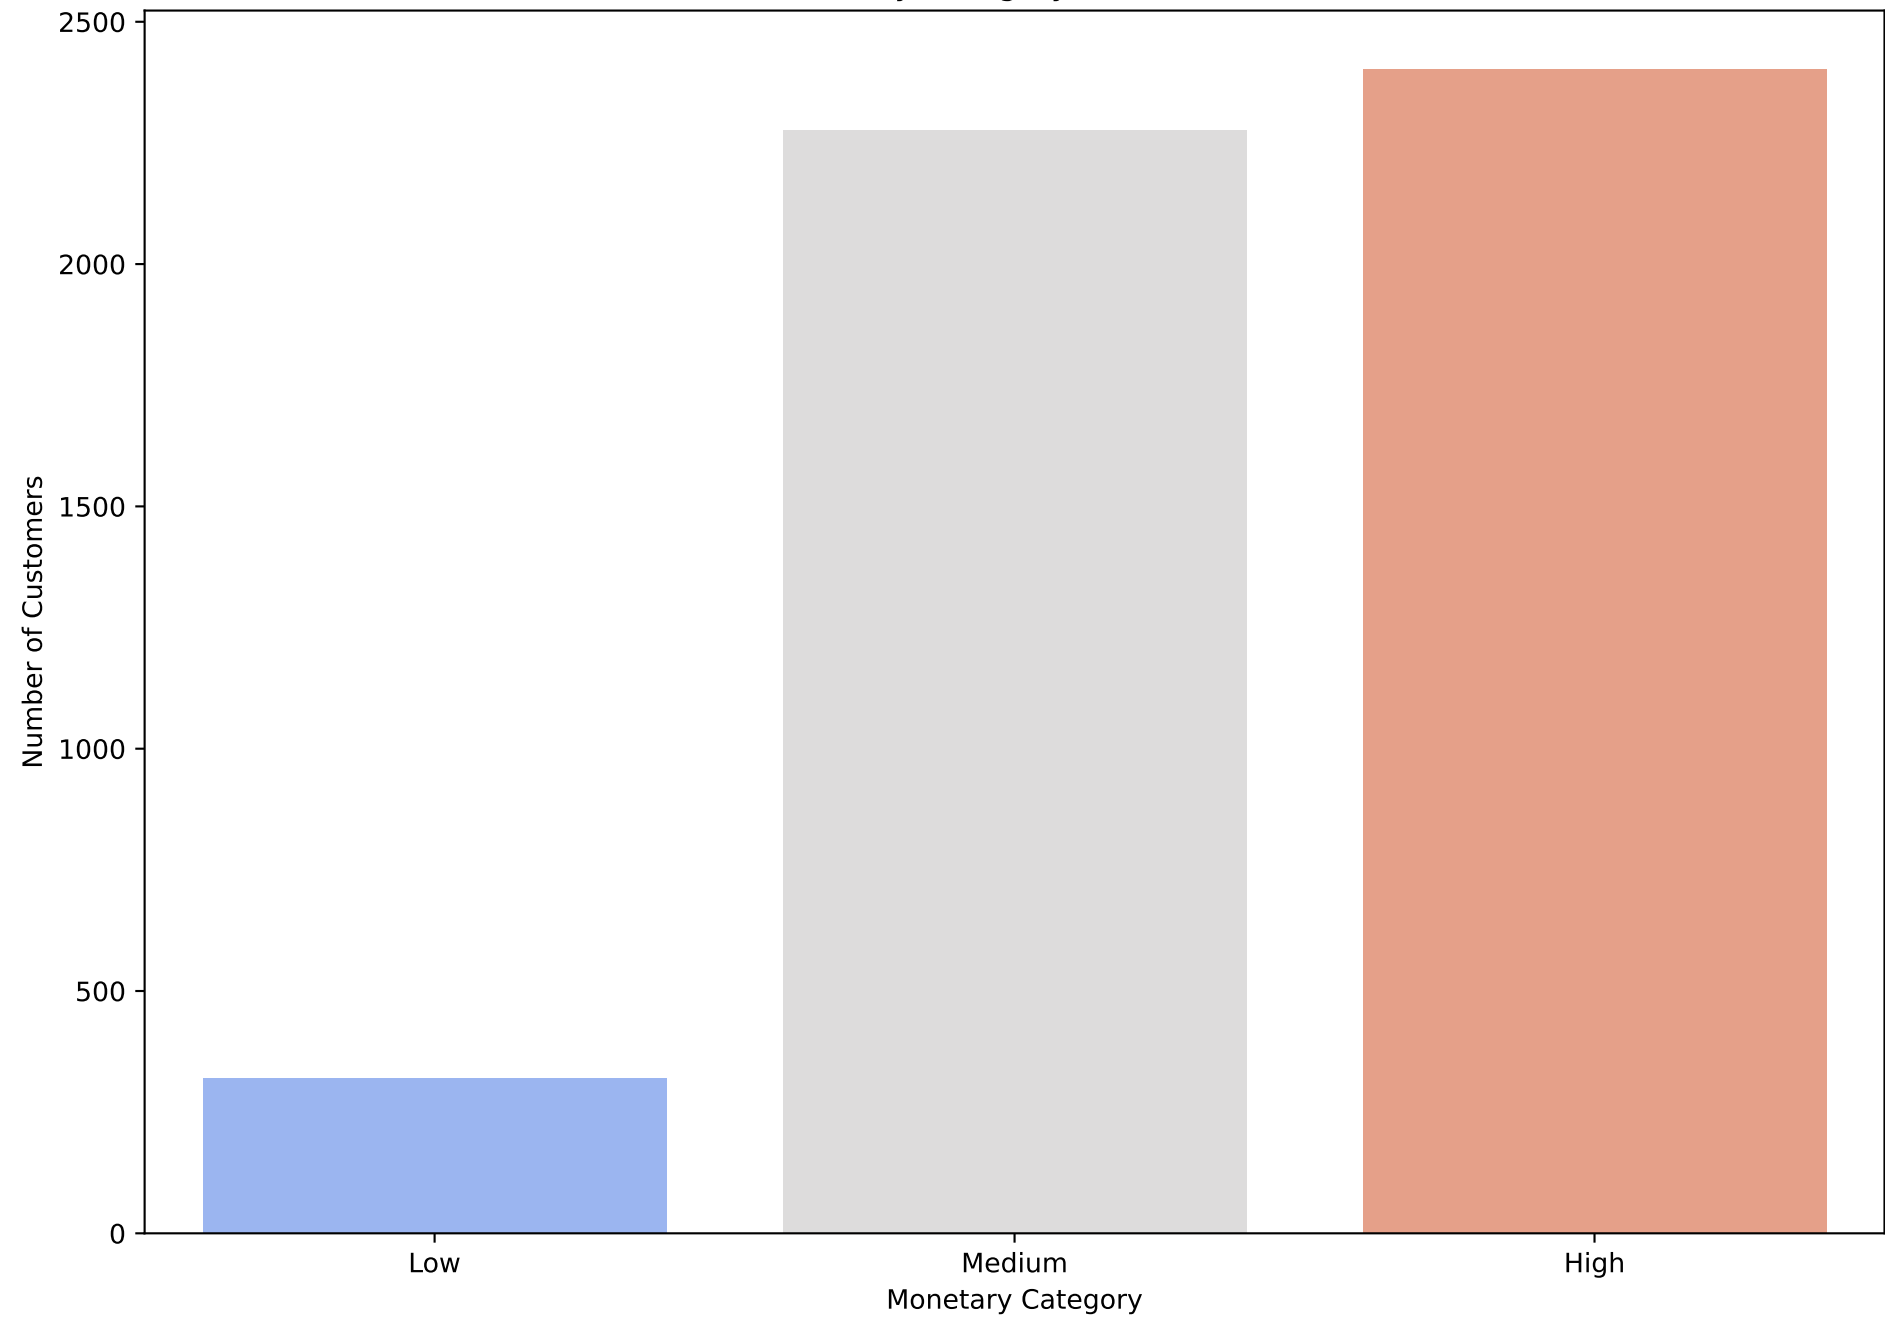

Frequency Category Distribution

Recency Category Distribution

Monetary Category Distribution

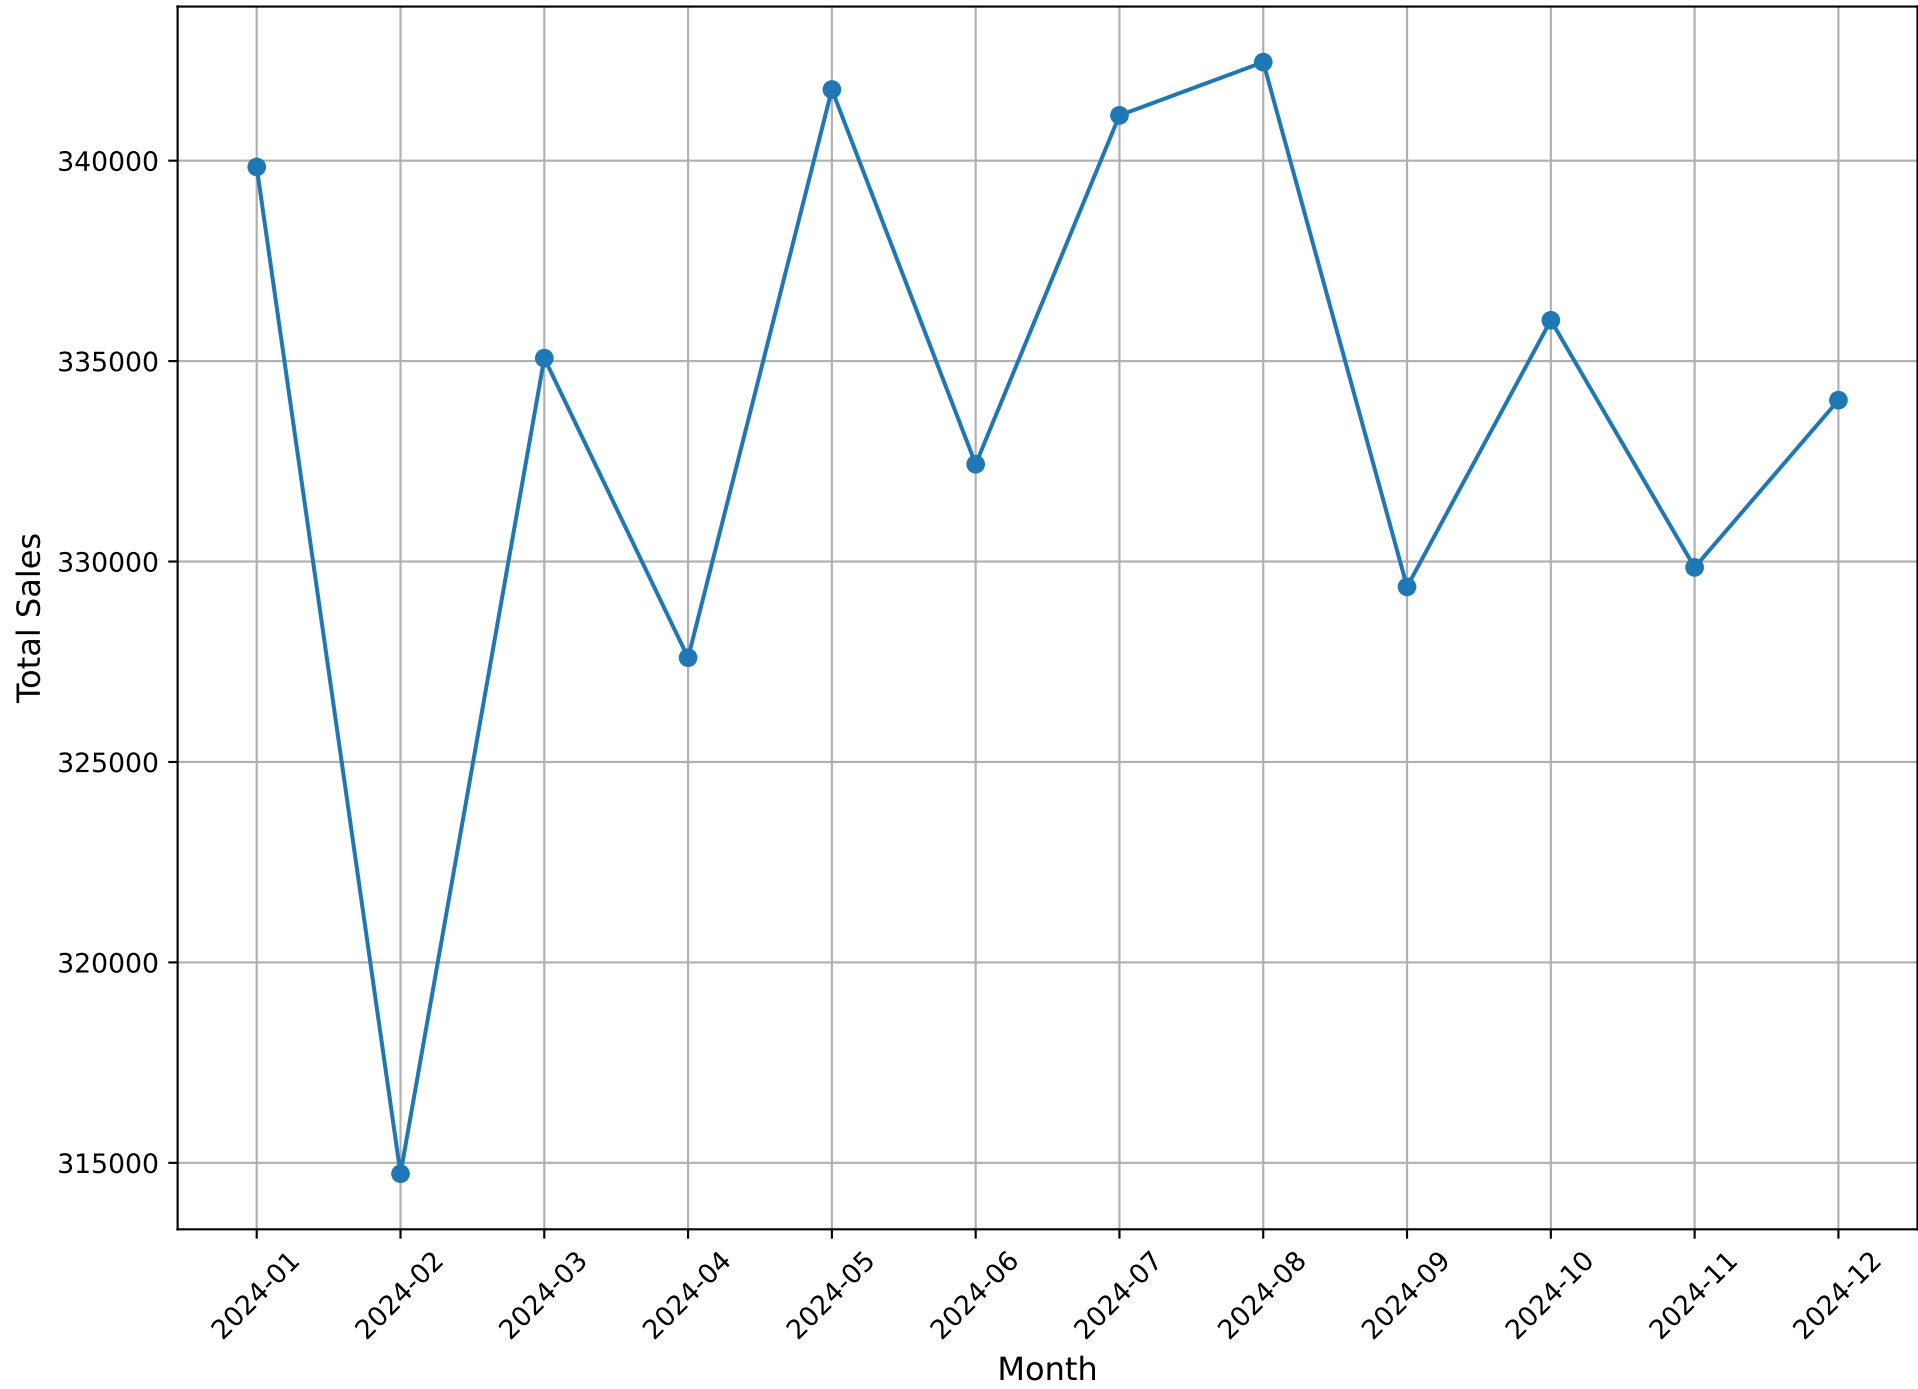

FRM analysis summary

According to the Frequency Category Distribution, Low-Frequency customers takes 6.98%, Medium-Frequency customers takes 48.34%, and High-Frequency customers takes 48.34%.

According to the Recency Category Distribution, Low-Recency customers takes 50.6%, Medium-Recency customers takes 25.06%, and High-Recency customers takes 25.06%.

According to the Monetary Category Distribution, Low-Monetary customers takes 6.42%, Medium-Monetary customers takes 45.52%, and High-Monetary customers takes 45.52%.

Monthly Sales Trend

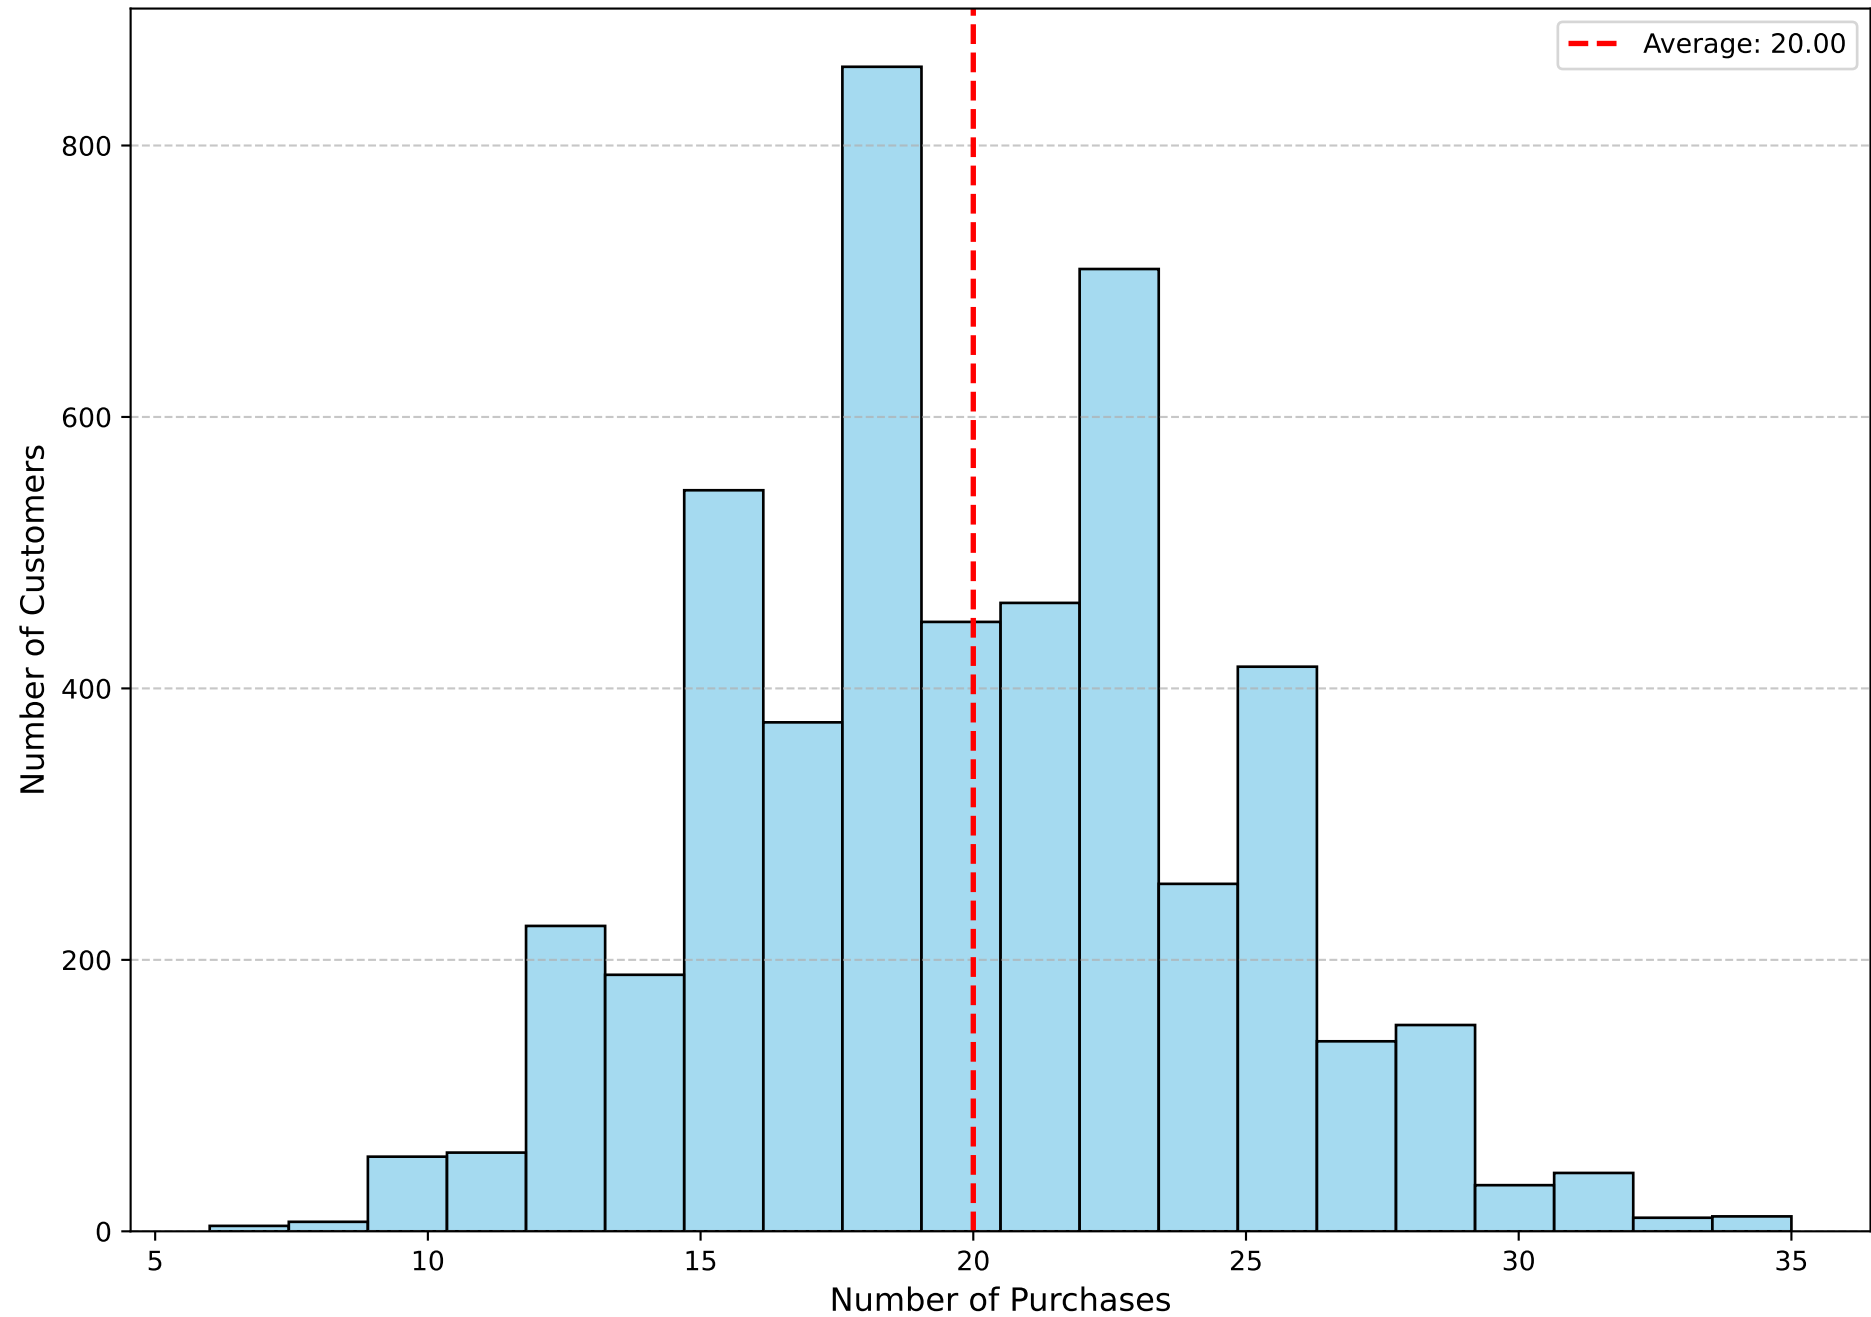

Summary of sales months

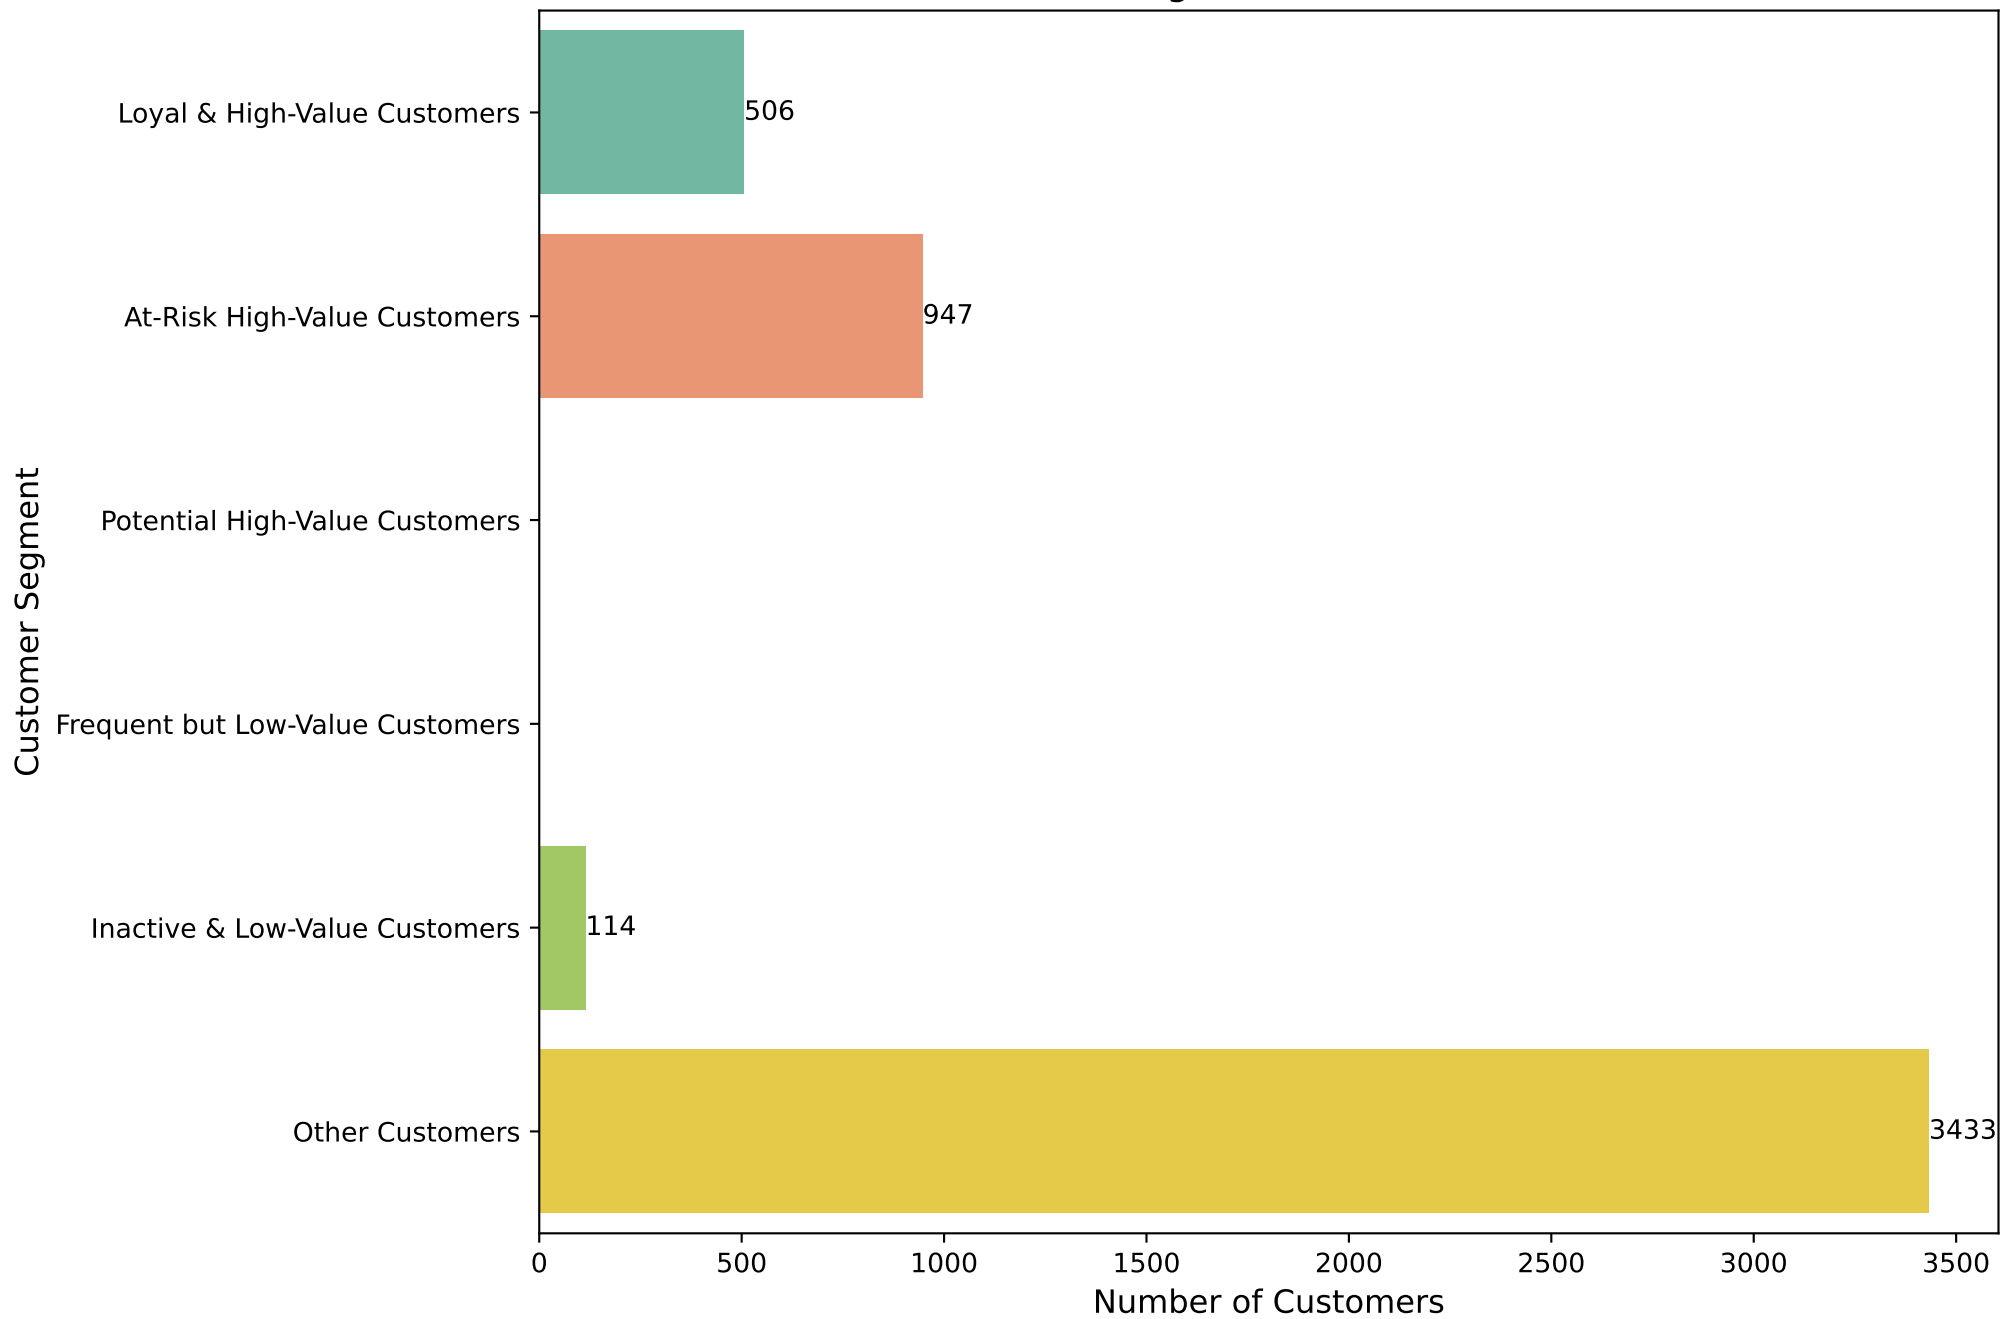

According to the Monthly Sales Trend, the peak sales month(s) is(are): 1, 5, 7, 8, 10, and the off sales month(s) is(are): 2.

Policy recommendations: Based on the monthly sales of this year, we recommend referring to this analysis and adjusting the monthly purchase volume for the next year.

Distribution of Customer Purchase Counts

Customer Segmentation Distribution

Formulate consumer policies

According to the Customer Segmentation Distribution.

For Loyal & High-Value Customers (total number is 506) we should,
a. special offers, special discounts, and VIP memberships. b. offer new products tasting coupons.

For At-Risk High-Value Customers (total number is 947) we should,
a. offer time-sensitive offers. b. solve concerns through feedback.

For Potential High-Value Customers (total number is 0) we should,
a. offer special coupons. b. Granting special membership privileges.

For Frequent but Low-Value Customers (total number is 0) we should, offer bundled offers and high-value coupons.

For Inactive & Low-Value Customers (total number is 114) we should,
a. offer discounts or “We miss you!” emails. b. automation to reduce engagement costs.

For Other Customers (total number is 3433) we should,
a. reduce marketing efforts. b. analyze behavior to identify potential.
c. offer general promotions